

CoCoRaHS March Madness Recruiting Competition

March 1-31, 2014

Help California win the CoCoRaHS Cup this year with the most new volunteers in March! If you or anyone you know is interested in observing precipitation at home, work or school, please sign up today at www.cocorahs.org, and become part of a fun volunteer network!!

- CoCoRaHS stands for Community Collaborative Rain, Hail and Snow network.
- Volunteers observe precipitation, and report in the morning on the CoCoRaHS website.
- Your observations help organizations such as the National Weather Service, emergency managers, hydrologists, farmers and many more!
- CoCoRaHS is easy and free to join, you just need a 4-inch rain gauge.
- Sign up today at cocorahs.org, or e-mail Jimmy.Taeger@noaa.gov for more info.

Credit: Henry Reges